

AFRICAN ELEPHANTS: FROM THEIR TUSKS TO THEIR POOP

Across

- 3. African elephants do this up to 10 times per day
- 5. African elephants use these for digging, foraging, and fighting
- 7. An African elephant can recognize old friends because of their good _____
- 8. The term for a species that only eats plants
- 10. The African elephant is the world's largest land _____
- 11. These 'bombs' are used to prevent African elephants from coming too close to humans
- 13. African elephants help spread these throughout the forest in their poop

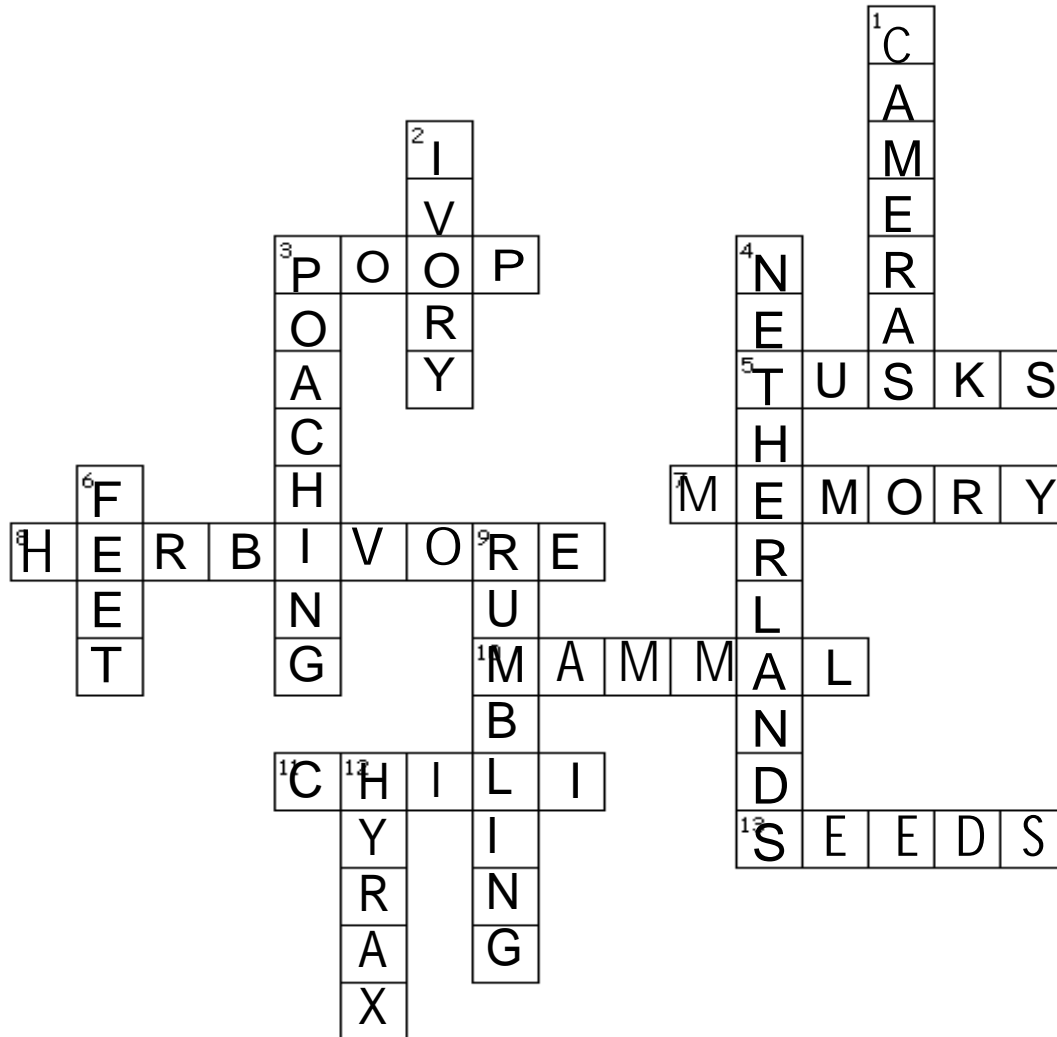

Down

- 1. Special kinds of these help scientists catch poachers at night
- 2. Up to 30,000 African elephants are killed per year for their tusks, which are made of _____
- 3. Illegal hunting of animals; one of the biggest threats facing African elephants
- 4. The country where Bas (the presenter) is from
- 6. Besides ears, elephants can hear using this body part
- 9. Low frequency sounds African elephants use to communicate
- 12. The elephant's closest relative

AFRICAN ELEPHANTS: FROM THEIR TUSKS TO THEIR POOP

Answer Key

Across

- African elephants do this up to 10 times per day
- African elephants use these for digging, foraging, and fighting
- An African elephant can recognize old friends because of their good _____
- The term for a species that only eats plants
- The African elephant is the world's largest land _____
- These 'bombs' are used to prevent African elephants from coming too close to humans
- African elephants help spread these throughout the forest in their poop

Down

- Special kinds of these help scientists catch poachers at night
- Up to 30,000 African elephants are killed per year for their tusks, which are made of _____
- Illegal hunting of animals; one of the biggest threats facing African elephants
- The country where Bas (the presenter) is from
- Besides ears, elephants can hear using this body part
- Low frequency sounds African elephants use to communicate
- The elephant's closest relative